

SHALL EIGHTH DISTRICT
LINE UP FOR CANNON?CONGRESSMAN HELM DELIVERS
VIGOROUS ADDRESS AT DAN-VILLE MONDAY.

A large crowd heard Congressman Helm speak at Danville. He dealt some powerful blows to the "interests" and the Eighth district Republicans who seek to send a man to Congress who will vote for Cannon and support all the "interests" he and the Aldrich gang represent. Mr. Helm said in part:

"The Republican machine in this Congressional district does not appear to be in good working order, but badly out of gear. On the 9th day of August last the Republicans met in convention at Danville, and, after adopting a platform of the standard variety, placed Mr. R. L. Ewell on same. The platform still stands; it has not been renounced by the high-brows, who constituted themselves the whole party and selected the present nominee without any reference whatever to the wishes of the voter of the Republican party, nor has it been renounced by the present nominee himself. Mr. Ewell simply stepped off of it, because he found it was rotten, and discovered that those who framed it up did not understand the temper of the people nor the drift of sentiment of his own party in this district. He attempts,

Congressman Helm, of the Eighth

however, to conceal his real motive in withdrawing by saying that his eyesight is bad, when, as a matter of fact, he has recovered his second vision, and quit because he saw the writing on the wall.

Read this Platform.

"The platform is a very significant document as reported by 'The Kentucky Republican'.

"Resolved, That we heartily endorse the splendid administration of President William H. Taft in its entirety, and especially the Payne-Aldrich Tariff Bill, the particular features of which are sufficient guarantee of a continuance of the greatest era of prosperity this country has ever known. Be it further

"Resolved, That the State of Kentucky has the right to feel justly proud of the record and achievements of Senator W. O. Bradley, who is one of the foremost Republican leaders of the nation. We especially commend him for his untiring efforts for the tobacco and hemp growers of Kentucky, and, as an evidence of his broadness, we point with pride to his efforts in behalf of the veterans of the Blue and the Gray."

"We approve and endorse in unqualified terms the splendid businesslike and faithful administration of the State officers by Gov. Willson and the other officers."

"That platform is strictly a standard declaration of the third degree. It is a covenant with the special interests and privileged classes, to the very front door of which its trail leads. It is an endorsement of the Cannon-Aldrich regime, and is a pledge of confidence in them: though it the nominee says to them, 'You can use me.' Everyone who votes for the Republican nominee in this district O. K's the Cannon-Aldrich program, and thereby registers his approval of the Taft administration and the Payne-Aldrich Bill that has caused a rebellion within the Republican ranks from Maine to California. This platform upon which the Republican nominee in this district stands has a commercial value on Wall street, and I haven't the slightest doubt that if he will exhibit it to the Steel Trust, the Tobacco Trust, the Sugar Trust, or any of the special interests, in whose behalf the Payne-Aldrich Bill was framed, he will be able to raise a campaign fund on its face value alone. It is one of Joe Cannon's pocket-nerve regulators."

"The man that votes for the Republican nominee does so after being fully advised and warned that the Republican nominee, if elected, is not and cannot be expected to vote, to alter, change or amend the Payne-Aldrich Bill, because the convention that framed up the platform on which he stands has not only endorsed the bill, in its entirety, but pronounced it a guarantee of the continuance of the greatest era of prosperity that this country has ever known. With this as his commission from the chosen delegation of the people who in solemn convention undertook to voice the sentiment of the Republican party in this district, he would not be untrue or unfaithful to the trust confided in him; especially when there was a protest on the floor of the convention against the adoption of the platform, which was overwhelmingly defeated and the stamp of condemnation placed upon any opposition to the standard platform, as presented and adopted. "It goes without saying that a candidate on the above platform would, if elected, vote for Cannon for Speaker, for which position he is now a candidate. So, the voter who supports the Republican nominee is again delivered over to 'the System.'"

"The first declaration made by the Danville convention is that 'We heartily endorse the splendid administration of President William H. Taft in its entirety.' Is this because that in his Winona speech he said the 'Payne-Aldrich Bill is the best tariff bill that was ever passed by Congress,' and endorsed it as a compromise with his promise of a revision downward? Is it because just before the adjournment of the last session he sent a special message to that body, before the bill was a year old, asking it for the appropriation of $250,000 and to invest him with the power of appointing a special commission to secure information, not for Congress, that under the constitution has exclusive jurisdiction of all revenue measures, but information for the President? Is it because he wants to further revise the very bill that has received his blessing, and is now being praised because through it $75,000,000 more taxes have been collected under its operation than under the Dingley Bill, with correspondingly heavier burdens on the people? Did this same convention endorse his administration because he attempted to turn over through his secretary, Mr. Hallinger, the Alaskan coal fields and great water powers of the Northwest to Morgan-Capgem-Helm syndicate, as well as the sugar land of the Philippines to the Sugar Trust, through his Attorney General, Mr. Wickensham? Was it because Mr. Taft surrounded himself with a cabinet composed of men connected with the trusts and corporations? Was it because he had dismissed faithful officials from public office because of their loyalty and patriotism? Was it because the railroad bill prepared by his Attorney General, and sent to Congress to be passed without alteration or amendment, and which would have been a virtual repeal of the Sherman anti-trust law? Was it because he put party solidarity above the nation's needs and the welfare of the people? Was it because the conservation bill he had presented to Congress was more favorable to exploitation than conservation? Was it because he refused to permit Congress to investigate the sugar frauds in New York? Was it because he has abandoned the White House and is making a moving picture show of himself?"

Taft Himself With Special Interests.

"President Taft's alignment with the special interest is demonstrated by the railroad bill that he had presented to Congress with instructions to pass without amendment, and in order to force its passage withdrew Federal patronage from those Senators and Members who dared to amend it, and threatened to veto it if amended. This bill as introduced provided for: First—A court open to the railroads, but closed to the public, with power given railroads to enjoin the orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Second—Authority in the court to overrule findings of fact and to determine disputes on broad grounds of public policy. Third—Power to issue injunction on ex parte hearings. Fourth—No appeal allowed the shipper or the public. Fifth—Depriving the Interstate Commerce Commission of its rights to appear by counsel before court on appeal from its findings. Sixth—Depriving the shipper of the right to a hearing before the court on rate disputes. Seventh—Giving the Attorney General full power to prosecute or dismiss in rate cases at his personal pleasure. Eighth—Giving the railroads specifically the right to appear by counsel with prepared cases. Ninth—Repealing the Anti-Trust law in its application to railroads, and legalizing agreements between roads as to rates. Tenth—Legalizing railway consolidations of all character. Eleventh—Legalizing the watering of railroad stock. After enacting these vulnerable features and inserting the long and short haul features, placing the burden of proof on the railroad to show the business in the increase in rates and other valuable and liberal extensions of the power of the Commission, the bill was passed."

Taft Claims Legislation.

At this point in his speech, Mr. Helm ably and at length showed conclusively that Mr. Taft and his followers were claiming a credit to his administration the enactment of a long list of legislation that was in reality a part of the Democratic platform, and forced through Congress by the Democrats with the aid of the revolting members of the President's own party. Among these he mentioned the President's emasculated railroad bill that would have been ruinous to all but the railroads, if passed as introduced; the campaign contribution bill; the removal of Cannon from the Rules Committee; the income tax amendment; the employers' liability act, and others not only passed by the so-called majority, but provided for in the Democratic platform and ignored in the Republican National platform. Referring to those bills for which Taft claimed credit, and to which the Republicans were really entitled, he said that the postals saving bill really concealed the central bank bill that they were afraid to pass till after the election. The ship subsidy steal, Federal incorporation and central bank measures, all star features of the Taft administration, were defeated. In other words, the Democratic minority became the majority party and controlled the legislation of the last session.

Going back to the Danville convention's plank, "We especially endorse in its entirety the Payne-Aldrich Tariff Bill," he began to quote some gliblylatter words with which ex-Senator Doliver and Cummins had attempted to beat from it its worst and most fraudulent features. Quoting liberally from Senator Cummins' denunciation of the many features of the bill, put in it in the interest of monopoly and winding up with his statement that "We have revised the tariff in response to an overwhelming Republican sentiment and have succeeded in taking off about one-fourth-second of the average imposition upon dutiable goods."

In quoting from Republican Senator Bristow's denunciation of the bill and its author's personal interest in the fraudulent features thereof, he showed that this Republican Senator came from Kansas, where the Payne bill applies in that agricultural section as it does in the Eighth Kentucky District, and quoted from Senator Bristow as saying that, "Under the leadership of Aldrich and Cannon, instead of revising the tariff as we promised, duties were fixed, not with a view of protecting legitimate American industries or of securing revenue for the government, but for the purpose of promoting the financial interests of certain individuals or concerns." Further quoting from Bristow's speech in denunciation of the tariff bill and his brother Republicans who framed it, he wound up with this sentence from the recent Kansas State Republican convention platform: "We do not recognize the revision of the tariff of 1909 as a satisfactory fulfillment of the tariff pledge of the Republican platform."

To show that Mr. Taft has made an unconditional surrender to the interests he quoted his speeches before the election. On September 22, 1908, at Cincinnati, Mr. Taft said: "If I am elected President, I promise the nation that I will use every drop of my being to carry out honestly and decently the tariff revision promises of the Republican platform." Two days later, at Milwaukee, he said: "It is my judgment that a revision of the tariff in accordance with the pledge of the Republican platform will be, on the whole, a substantial revision downward." To show that he did not keep his promise, he said: "Let us apply the gauge to this tariff bill. There is an infallible test for the bill; the records show that, in 1907, $329,103,242 were collected on imports under the Dingley laws then in force. Now, take the identical goods in the exact quantities and apply the Payne rates as now fixed, applying them item for item, schedule for schedule, substituting Payne rates for Dingley rates, the amount collected would have been $324,758,344, an increase of $5,649,002, or 1.71 per cent. Make another test, if you please. The Dingley tariff consists of 2,024 items; of these there were unchanged 1,150, leaving changed 874 items. Of this number 220 were raised, and 654 reduced, with this result:

The 2,024 items of the Dingley tariff yielded, as stated above, $329,103,242. The 220 items the Payne law increased, 13,287,368. The 654 items the Payne law decreased, 7,638,330. In other words, the increase on the 220 items yields 4 per cent of the total revenue, while the decrease on the 654 items yields 2.3 per cent of the total revenue, which demonstrates that, while there was a reduction downward by items, there was a revision upward as to results.

Continuing, he said:

"In the cities where the high cost of living is being felt very acutely the Republican candidates are telling the people that the increased cost of living is not due to the tariff bill, because the tariff tax on farm products, articles of food, was reduced. In the agricultural districts the Republican candidates are telling the farmers that the high prices of farm products are not due to the tariff bill. It is true that the tariff on food products was reduced. It is a remarkable bill that can enrich the manufacturer by increasing the tariff on his output and at the same time enrich the farmer by decreasing the tariff on his products."

Extravagance of Republicans.

Mr. Helm next called attention to the extravagance of the Republican party, stating that "The public business transacted by the Federal Congress had grown to stupendous proportions. Experience is a valuable asset of the representative who has to deal with this immense volume of business; the voter may in a measure obtain a partial knowledge of its magnitude when he realizes that the appropriations made and authorized go far beyond the billion-dollar mark, as appears from the following:

Payne Bill Affects This Section.

Discussing the hemp and tobacco sections of the Payne bill, Mr. Helm said: "The importance and value of these sections to the farmer have been overstated by Senator Bradley, who, in his speech delivered in Louisville, August 16, said, 'In my judgment, the passage of the tobacco bill would have justified every Congressman from Kentucky in voting for the present bill,' and the Republican newspapers in this district have criticized my vote against the Payne bill, on account of the tobacco and hemp sections of the bill. The statement of the Senator is unwarranted and the criticisms of the papers unjust, as I will undertake to demonstrate. It is no benefit to the farmer to raise the tariff on the raw material and decrease the tariff on the finished products of hemp, as well as of products that can be substituted for or used instead of hemp products, as was done in the Payne bill. For example, yarns made of jute, a substitute for hemp, were reduced from 45 to 35 per cent. Cables and cords composed of jute, Tampico fibre, Manila sisal grass, all substitutes for hemp, or a mixture of any of these, from 1 cent per pound to 3 1/2 per cent a pound. Threads, cords or twine composed of flax, hemp or ramie, from 7 cents per pound to 6 cents per pound. Mats and rugs, made of hemp, flax, jute, etc., from 5 cents per square yard and 35 per cent to 4 cents per square yard and 30 per cent. Hydraulic hose, made in whole or in part of flax, hemp, etc., from 20 cents per pound to 15 cents per pound."

"It should be borne in mind that under the rule adopted by the Republican majority to force the Payne bill through the House without debate no amendment or vote was allowed on any of these items, or any others, except petroleum, barley, barley malt, lumber and hides. So much for the hemp proposition."

"I voted for the Stanley tobacco amendment, offered by McCall, which was of substantial benefit to the farmer, in that it permitted him and his subsequent vendee to sell tobacco in the natural leaf without any restriction whatever. This amendment was taken out of the bill in the Senate, and instead the following was substituted: 'Every person shall be regarded as a retail dealer in leaf tobacco whose business it is to sell leaf tobacco in quantities of less than an original hoghead, case or bale, or who shall sell directly to consumers or to persons other than dealers in leaf tobacco or to manufacturers of tobacco, snuff or cigars, or to persons who purchase in original package for export.'"

"That is only the beginning of this Senate amendment; I quote the remainder: 'Every such retail dealer in tobacco shall register with the collector of the district his name and style, place of residence, trade or business, and the place where such trade or business is to be carried on; and a failure to register, as hereby required, shall subject such person to a penalty of $50; and every retail dealer in leaf tobacco shall also keep a hook and enter therein daily his purchases of leaf tobacco and his sale, where such sales amount to two pounds or more in one day. Such record shall be kept written up to date, and shall be in such form and contain such entries as shall be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury.' And such books shall be open at all times for the inspection of any internal revenue officer or agent."

Severe Restrictions and Limitations.

Further discussing this feature of the bill, he said: "Enough of this amendment has been quoted to show its severe restrictions and limitations; I will not say to you that this amendment will not be of any advantage to the farmer, but will permit you to judge how great will be the benefit, if any, to him. How many farmers are sufficiently expert as accountants to keep the set of books that is required of them to sell any portion of their crop?"

"Are the benefits to the farmer by reason of this amendment so great that they would justify my vote for a bill that has multiplied the burdens of the people and that has been condemned by the people from Maine to California?"

In closing his speech, Mr. Helm said: "Finally we come to that portion of the Danville platform that 'Approves and endorses in unqualified terms the splendid businesslike and faithful administration of the state officers.' This was indeed the crowning act and master stroke of that convention. I have not been in a position to study state politics very closely, but somewhere I have heard it stated that the state is in debt over a million dollars; that interest-bearing warrants or notes are being issued to those holding claims against the state, and that the date of their payment is nowhere in sight. I remember that it was stated, when the Democrats went out of office, that the state was out of debt, and the state capital, which cost close to two million dollars, was nearly paid for. In other words, the Democrats pay as they go, while the Republicans borrow as they go. I have heard that two or three hundred thousand of dollars had been spent by the Governor to catch night riders, who, up to the last report, had not been caught. As soon as a Republican Governor is elected the soldiers are ordered ashore, and this use of the soldiers is doubtless what the convention referred to when mentioning the 'splendid businesslike and faithful administration of the state.' The Governor vetoed the income tax amendment (that Teddy says is all right).

"As to the other state officers that the convention praised, I am willing to leave this praise to the officers themselves. The Governor says that the Secretary of State is a mollicoddie nymcompoop. Bruner says the Governor doesn't know straight up; and what Auditor James says about the Lieutenant Governor just will stand printing, while the latter says James is another. And so it goes in the state, while the nation is presided over by an amiable President, who is ruled by bosses, who are ruled by money."

CLEAR TRACK
LEFT FOR HARDINJUDGE STONE SAYS THAT HE WILL NOT MAKE RACE FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE

Commonwealth's Attorney Charles A. Hardin, who is an announced candidate for the democratic nomination for Circuit Judge will in all probability have no opposition. Judge George E. Stone of Boyle county, stated to the Interior Journal Monday at Danville, that he had decided not to make the race for the nomination against Mr. Hardin, and this removes practically the only opposition which has been thought of against Mr. Hardin. Judge Stone said that he was deeply appreciative of the many kind wishes of his friends in the matter but felt that he could not afford for many reasons to sacrifice the time which would be required to make an effective canvass. Judge Stone had many friends in this county who will regret to learn that he is not to run, but a large number of democrats feel that Mr. Hardin's record as Commonwealth's Attorney has been such that he deserves promotion to the higher place and they are greatly pleased that he will be able to step to the bench without the necessity of making a hard fight in his party.

Kills His Man

LOCAL BAD NEGRO SHOOTS LAN-CASTER BLACK ON TRAIN

"FUI" Bryant, a local negro of a fighting reputation shot and instantly killed John Doty a Lancaster negro on the excursion train returning from Cincinnati Sunday night. The shooting took place between Paris and Winchester. Bryant immediately jumped off the train, but was later seen riding on the trucks between the baggage car and the engine and was surrounded and captured being lodged in jail at Winchester.

According to eye witnesses the killing was entirely unprovoked Bryant is said to have been cut or stuck on the mouth going to Cincinnati, and as he passed Doty coming back, the latter is said to have laughingly accosted him as "Muffin Mouth." Bryant immediately went to a rear coach, borrowed a pistol from his brother and came back and shot Doty as he sat in his seat.

Bryant had some trouble with some negroes here recently in which he is said to have badly beat up some eight. He is regarded as a bad man.

Shot By White Men

AND JIM JONES WAS ROBBED OF THREE GALLONS OF BOOZE

Jim Jones a hard-working and respected Lancaster negro was shot in the chest and probably fatally wounded by two white men on Traylor's lane in the Gilbert's Creek section early Saturday evening. He says that he was going home when they "held him up" and when he remarked that they must be joking, they fired on him. They then robbed him of a few dollars and took three and a half gallons of whiskey which he was carrying wrapped in a sack.

Warrants have been issued at the instigation of County Attorney W. S. Lurch for the arrest of Charles Limber and Alvin Thomas, of the Hyattsville section in Garrard county, charging them with the crime. Officials of Garrard, said last night, however that the men have skipped out and cannot be found.

A prominent official declare his belief that a "blind tiger" is being run at full blast in the section of the county where this affair occurred.

Speed Wins

COURT OF APPEALS SAYS THAT HE IS NOT LIABLE ON NOTE

The Court of Appeals on Friday reversed judgment of the Lincoln Circuit in the case of W. O. Speed against the Willow Springs Distilling Company of Nelson County. This was a suit brought by the distilling company to hold Mr. Speed liable on a note of Hayden Shanks, deceased, about $700 being involved. Mr. Speed showed that he had received a letter from appellee releasing him from liability on the note. He thus wins in the higher court. His attorneys were T. J. Hill, of this city, C. C. Bagby and Chas. H. Huggins, of Danville. Attorney Hugh T. Comper, of Lebanon, represented the distilling company.

BURLEY POOL DECLARED
OFF FOR THIS YEARLACK OF SUPPORT FROM GROW-ERS THE CAUSE—LEBUS
SAYS CUT OUT 1911
CROP.

The campaign to pool the crop of burley tobacco this year has been declared off by the Burley Tobacco Society on account of the refusal of the many growers to come into the pool. The society was determined not to let its members suffer by the non-poolers dumping their crops on the market this year so has called it off and everyone now will get the best price he can.

Bradley Wilson, who has been working for the pool in this and adjoining counties, was called in Saturday night. He attended a meeting at Point Lick Saturday when it was learned that Woods Walker and several other big growers who have been favoring the pool, had sold their crops to W. P. Kincaid of this city at from 12 to 13 cents. This knocked the bottom out of the movement there, and left a number of the smaller growers with the "bag to hold" and it is said that they are now demanding that they be paid as high a price for their crop.

There is now talk of the Burley Society starting a campaign to cut out the tobacco crop in 1911, in order to keep the price up, for there are few but believe that now that the pool has failed, the prices paid will be materially reduced.

A dispatch from Louisville to the city papers of Sunday morning had this to say of the collapse of the pool:

Lexington, Oct. 15.

The Burley Tobacco Society's pool of 1910 collapsed like a punctured balloon and was officially declared off to-night at a special meeting of the district board, held at the court house with the Burley pool, the court house last week by the Scott county tobacco growers, led by Congressman I. Campbell Cantrell, was also abandoned, and the vast bulk of tobacco grown in the Burley belt this year will all be thrown on the open market. President Clarence Lebus stated tonight that while the 1910 pool had gone to smash, the pooled tobacco of 1909 would be held by the society until the situation had been improved and better prices would be realized.

For the past week it has been evident that the 1910 pool was tottering. Under President Lebus and the other leaders of the society clinging to the hope that the step taken by the district board last week inviting outsiders to sign pledges to be placed in disinterested hands, and for which meetings were to be held to-day, would yet save the day. For several days however, reports had been coming in that buyers were scouring the country, buying up tobacco at an average of 10 to 12 cents, and that even many of the growers who were members of the pool had secretly sold their crop.

Yesterday the price at which the 1909 pool was being auctioned became so low that the society had to reject them, and with prospect of not soon getting the money for their crop in the 1909 pool, members of the 1909 pool became desperate.

Realizing that the crisis had come, President Lebus last night sent out telegrams to all the members of the district board, calling them to a meeting here tonight. From early in the evening reports had been coming in telling of the utter failure of the meetings held in the different counties, and when the district board assembled at 9 o'clock every member who had read these reports agreed that the pool was dead. Hence, when the situation was reviewed by President Lebus in an address to the board there was practically nothing left but to declare the pool off, and though the matter was discussed until nearly midnight, it was only postponing the inevitable end. When the resolutions were at last offered by President Lebus they were at once adopted.

As he came out of the meeting after the resolutions were adopted, President Lebus remarked:

"This crop of tobacco is the poorest and toughest ever raised in Kentucky, and we will let them have it and everyone get on the dump together. But we will hold on to our good tobacco pool of 1909 and make them pay us good money for it yet."

"Next year we will go to work and cut out the crop from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico and see who will win this light in the long run, the trusts or the organized growers of Burley tobacco."

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

For Circuit Judge

The Interior Journal is authorized to announce Charles A. Hardin as a candidate for Circuit Judge of the Thirtieth Judicial district, at the election to be held November, 1911, subject to the action of the Demo-

The only name mentioned in connection with the proposed school for journalism at the State University at Lexington is that of Col. W. P. Walton, Editor of the Interior Journal for 25 years. And this is indeed fittingly so. He has been a veritable father to us in our short newspaper life of 10 years and whatever of success we shall ever possibly achieve will be largely due to the principles of our profession grounded into us in our long and delightfully intimate connection with him and his papers. We want to heartily endorse every word that our friend Edward O. Leigh of the Howling Green Messenger, said in a recent editorial. Mr. Leigh said:

As one who has learned what little he knows about the fourth estate in the hard school of experience speaking of another who gained his knowledge in the same calling also by hard knocks, we hereby nominate Colonel W. P. Walton to be dean of the new school of journalism in the Kentucky State University. It is hardly possible that he could not explain to the fledglings why you put a comma here or a dash there, or why you should punctuate thus at this place, and throw the mantle of charity over a peccadillo at another. But we do know that after a youngster has gone through a course of apprentices in the staid fields of the newspaper with Boss Walton to direct his steps, he would either be ready for a job on a city paper, or would be willing to go into the ministry or the law of medicine, or any other profession that was neither such a jealous nor so hard a taskmaster.

He might not know so much about the parts of speech but he would know how to build up a news item so it would be read by all readers of the sheet in which it was printed. When you can turn out newspaper men just such as Walton has turned out in his actual experience without the advantage of a training in a university, then the curriculum of the State University may be said to be strengthened. "Rah for Walton!"

The tobacco pool for 1910 has been declared off, and it is now "every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost." The Interior Journal is convinced that the success of the pool in previous years put the price of tobacco where Lincoln county farmers could raise at the profit which they have enjoyed; and it is very apprehensive that now that the pool is no more, the growers are going to have to take just what the buyers choose to give them and no more. Many have refused to unite with the pool and opposed it on account of methods and men in his management but there was never a great cause without some weak point, and the object which was sought to be attained counterbalanced and minor objections anyone might have found. The Interior Journal have favored the pool from first to last because it was believed that its success meant the largest measure of good to the people of this and adjoining counties. The buyers and the trust agents have insisted that the price of tobacco was not due to the pool, and now we shall see what we shall see. Every grower should demand a price of at least 12 cents for his crops; they paid it for many crops while they were trying to break the pool, and now that they have succeeded let's see if their contention that the pool really had nothing to do with the price holds good when there is no pool.

The sheriff of Fayette raided several gambling joints in Lexington last week and carted away loads of roulette wheels, and other furniture germane to the pastime. He could find no one gambling, however. In Stanford we see dozens of cases of wistful shipped in on almost every train, more than any one man could possibly consume, and it seems that no clues can be obtained to those who sell it.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOT BALL TEAM
DEFEATS DEAF BOYS.

The Stanford High School foot ball team won its second straight game of the season Saturday when it defeated the strong eleven of the Kentucky school for the deaf at Danville by a score of 12 to 0.

It first seemed that the plucky men from K. S. D. were going to take the honors easily; for they plowed through Stanford's line for substantial gains until they approached near our goal. But they lost the ball on downs. Singleton kicked the ball nearly to the center of the field and the mite chargers again boiled for several yards. They attempted a forward pass and quarter back Waters grabbed the fumbled ball and went for a touch down after which Singleton made a splendid kick. Penny went once for a good gain around right end but his body getting a greater momentum than his feet caused him to stumble. Harris Coleman by a fake play made a touch down through several men.

Wesley Embry and Mike Penny did some splendid tackling. Rankin Singleton and Hill did good work on forward passes. Thomas Coleman and Russell Brown did good work in the line. Elwood Totten held strong in the line. Morrison Bright did some valiant work as center rush. Taken as a whole it was a splendid demonstration of grit and knowledge of the manly sport. As usual the boys conduct themselves in a very creditable manner both in or out of the game. Look out for Stanford High School in athletics as well as in all commendable lines. The K. S. D. team is made up of courageous young men and some very good players, being swift and alert.

If the people of Stanford wish to see some good playing, they will be given an opportunity next Saturday afternoon when Stanford will play Somerset on the graded school grounds here. Admission 25 cents. Everyone will be charged as the expense will be large. Encourage the boys and witness a good game. Game called at 3 o'clock.

EASTLAND—WALKER.

The following from a Louisville paper is of interest here for the bride was born in Stanford and lived here for a number of years with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Eastland before they removed to Louisville:

The wedding of Miss Addie Chrysler Eastland and Mr. Samuel Caldwell Walker, of Perryville, was solemnized Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Eastland, on First Street. The Rev. Thomas H. Cleland, New Albany, a cousin of the bride was officiating clergyman. The decorations in the house were most artistic. Palms and ferns were used throughout the rooms and Southern smilax was effectively draped over the doorways and windows. The ceremony took place in the library before an improvised altar arranged between the windows. Miss Louis McLane Eastland was her sister's maid of honor. Miss Evelyn Eastland and Miss Ethel Cleland, of Danville, were the bridesmaids. Little Miss Margaret Cleland, of Winchester, was the flower girl. Charles W. Crawford, of Perryville was Mr. Walker's best man. The bride's gown was of white crepe de chine, and she wore the conventional tulle veil. Her bonnet was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Louise Eastland wore a lovely dress of yellow crepe chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids' dresses were of white batiste, hand embroidered, and their bouquets were also of chrysanthemums. The little flower girl wore a dainty frock of mill and lace.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker left immediately after the ceremony for Boyle county, where they will go to housekeeping at Mr. Walker's country place.

Among the out of town guests for the wedding were: Mrs. Louise Eastland, Miss Ethel Cleland, Miss Hettie Caldwell, of Danville; Mrs. H. L. Stevens, Mrs. John Horace Cleland, Mrs. E. O. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. ZEMO is a Catarrh cure, manufactured by F. J.
